2   teller in processing new account deposits, and

3   as a banker in opening new accounts.

4   Q   Any other difficulties with Paul

5   Santamaria?

6   A   There was an issue of a new teller

7   who showed a loss of a thousand dollars which

8   we could never find.

9   Q   What did Paul Santamaria have to

10   say about that loss which couldn't be found?

11   A   He told us that we should have had

12   designated an employee who's sole job was just

13   to stand by that teller for several days

14   watching him perform his job, for full

15   supervision.

16   Q   Had the teller been through teller

17   training?

18   A   Yes.

19   Q   How had the teller performed during

20   teller training?

21   A   Very well.

22   Q   No problems?

23   A   No.

24   Q   And before the loss, when the new

25   teller was put on the line, were there any

1   JANKOUSKY   83

2   problems?

3   A   Not that I remember at all.

4   Q   So what did you tell

5   Mr. Santamaria?

6   A   I told him that the teller, Davon

7   Felder, D-A-V-O-N, F-E-L-D-E-R had gotten,

8   done very well in teller training, I remember

9   and that he had done well when we had put him

10   practicing.

11   And that we did have him next to

12   either the head teller or assistant head

13   teller, at the time, at all times. So that if

14   there were any questions, and he would be next

15   to some one very, very, experienced. This was

16   our normal way of putting a teller on the 17   line.

18   Q   But when a new teller loses a

19   thousand dollars and the branch can't account

20   for that, is that a matter that you think is

21   properly brought up by higher management?

22   A   I think it is.

23   Q   Before I go on, did that teller

24   stay with you?

25   A   Yes.
